

Conformation Clinic

Levels: C, C1

Objectives:

- Identify good and bad points of basic leg conformation
- Name five basic conformation qualities that you want in a pony for your own use.

Materials Needed:

- Pictures of horses (you could use pictures from the conformation clinic in Practical Horseman)
- Reference books on conformation and/or magazine articles
- Construction paper, markers, etc.
- Index cards with a common conformation fault printed on each one

Activity 1:

- Give each candidate an index card with an assigned conformation fault. Each candidate should draw the fault and then list three reasons why it is an undesirable trait.
- Encourage each candidate to present/share their conformation fault with the group.

Activity 2: (This activity can be done with live horses instead of pictures if desired)

- Place pictures of horses in a central location where all the candidates can easily view them. Using three pictures works well.
- Instruct the candidates to place the horses 1-3 according to their conformation.
- Each candidate should write reasons for their preferences.
- Discuss the candidate s choices and their reasons. If you chose to use pictures from the conformation clinic in Practical Horseman, you could also share the how the class was placed in the magazine and the reasons given.

Conclusion:

- Discuss why conformation is an important consideration when looking to buy a
